

CALL FOR REVIEWERS

Overview of Responsibilities

Responsible for reviewing manuscripts according to the Guide for Authors at <https://www.airmedicaljournal.com/content/authorinfo>

Selection Guidelines

The editors select the reviewers. Preference will be given to candidates who:

- Have a record of publication in professional, scientific, peer-reviewed journals
- Have excellent oral and written communication skills and attention to detail
- Have a solid record of demonstrated expertise in critical care transport medicine
- Have a working understanding of electronic communication and journal submission platforms

Time Requirement

Approximately 2-4 hours per issue reviewing manuscripts

Orientation

Reviewers are oriented to their role by the editors via sample exemplary reviews, and Elsevier provides tutorials and other resources.

Evaluation

The reviewers are informally evaluated by the editors based on the fulfillment of their primary responsibilities. Reviewers serve an initial 1-year term and may serve additional years if agreed upon by the reviewer and editors. Reviewers are replaced as appropriate to fulfill the purpose and direction of the journal.

Application

Please send a letter of interest and CV to jackie.stocking@yahoo.com.